

MUNOB 2024

We're delighted to welcome you to our 11th edition of MUNOB. We have 10 committees with delegates and chairs that are excited to have fruitful debates. The MUNOB family is so very proud of this conference as we've worked so hard for things to hopefully turn out perfect and we're excited to have all of you here with us as part of this conference.

OPENING CEREMONY

The ceremony starts with a warm welcome to the delegates delivered by the President of the General Assembly, Dimitrie Balotescu, as he states that he hopes – and I quote – ‘that the heart that was put in this project will be seen throughout the conference’.

This is followed by a speech given by our most esteemed principal, Mrs Liliana Zaschievici, who relates the history she has had with MUN conferences for the past 11 years and calls attention to the benefits participants gain as a consequence of being involved in the project: an open mind, awareness of global issues and becoming part of an international community.

Cornel Feruță, Ambassador and Permanent Representative of the Mission of Romania to the United Nations, and Andrei Luca, General Director of Diplomacy of the Minister of External Affairs, discuss diplomacy and its core values, advocating the importance of this project to the newer generation. Sebastian Burduja, the Minister of Energy and Mihai Viteazul National College Alumni, brings a new perspective about contemporary challenges, urging delegates to live their life with purpose: ‘Will I have left the world a better place? Did my life matter?’.

The next speaker is the Foreign Service Officer at the US Department of State, Leah Schulz, and she proceeds to highlight the link between high school students learning about global issues and the future of diplomacy, ending her speech with an encouragement for the delegates to focus on building relationships and seek peace.

Olga Logvinenko, the educational coordinator of the Ukrainian school hosted by the Mihai Viteazul National College, offers her gratitude to our high school for providing them and their students with a place to continue their studies.

Robin Bucur, a Young European Ambassador, passionately likens misinformation to a malignant fast-spreading fungus and also provides some means to eliminate it.

Lastly, we hear some words from our esteemed Secretary General, Ilinca Dumitru, who moves us with her inspiring speech, sharing her vision of an improved world and providing an insight into what the essence of the United Nation is: a junction between leadership and cooperation: 'Be the change you want to see in the world.' And with that, MUNOB 2024 is officially open.

The General Assembly then calls upon the Ambassadors to deliver their speeches.

The Ambassador of China brings into focus the issues of nuclear energy and climate change and demands peace and stability for all, while stressing that cooperation between nations is crucial to achieving these goals. Some questions then follow about China's production plants, the use of drugs and inflation rates.

The Assembly then entertains a speech from the Ambassador of France. Their speech revolves around human rights and the importance of cooperation in order to achieve common goals, promising to all delegates that France will do everything in their power to correct the mistakes from the past, as the past does not shape the future.

India makes some powerful statements on matters such as nuclear energy, the radicalization of youth, as well as the protection of women in areas dealing with religious persecution, noting the importance of ensuring human rights at all cost.

As for the Ambassador of the Russian delegation, they delivered a heated speech that resulted in a lot of points of information.

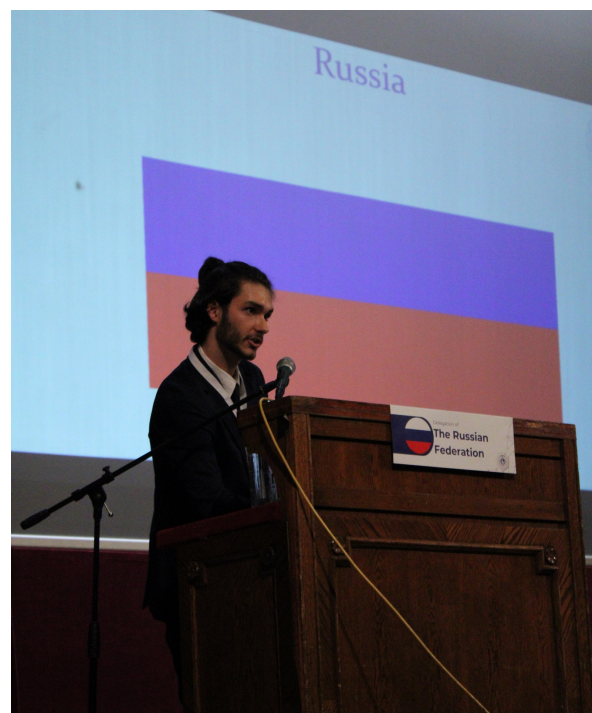

MUNOB 2024

Russia's Ambassador gives an intensely incisive and somewhat inflaming speech about the general instability of society, criticizing today's diplomacy as well as the West's xenophobia towards the East. Reactions from the delegates vary, with some being speechless while others attempt to rebut their accusations.

Ukraine's voice is also heard, challenging Russia by asking if they feel threatened by their country.

The United Kingdom discusses misinformation and discrimination, while Switzerland accentuates the need for a safe working environment for women working in the sex industry

Lastly, the ambassador of the US takes the floor and remarks that no country is exempt from any of the issues discussed in the Assembly and highlights topics that will be further explored in committee sessions.

INTERVIEWS

With the Presidency

Our PGA, Dimitrie Balotescu

What is it that you do?

I've started the preparations for this conference ever since May, last year.

What made you give that much implication into the conference?

That's what I've often asked myself. When I was in the 9th grade, I was a shy speaker, but as I progressed in the mun club, I began to gain confidence and it shaped me and my mentality. After two years, I was offered this opportunity, to coordinate the whole MUNOB and mun related activity. I wanted to give to the others an opportunity to experience a great conference, just as the one that helped me evolve.

What difficulties did you encounter while organizing this conference?

As a leader, it's very important to know how to choose the people you can rely on and for example, one of the most challenging tasks I had was to get together an organizing team that had the necessary energy and dedication to get this project going. Moreover, there are also issues regarding the international schools, catering - to sum up, everything is done from scratch, and there is a lot of patience and work to form relationships with international schools, the speakers that were invited and so on.

A word for the delegates?

Good luck!

Our DPGA, Tudor Milică-Rafalet

What made you want to take part in organizing MUNOB?

The main reason I came to this high school was because of this, I heard many things about it from my sister and I wanted to do it myself.

What are you looking forward to from this conference?

I just hope it will turn out good, we worked very hard and for a long time to make it happen and hopefully we'll have a successful conference

INTERVIEWS

What do the participants have to say?

Interview with the delegate of UK from CTC

How was your flight?

Very good.

What do you expect from this conference?

I expect to make some friends and gain experience.

Did you have time to prepare?

Yes, at home.

Interview with the delegate of Germany from SPECPOL

What is the topic you're most excited to discuss?

The use of nuclear energy is an interesting topic, I find it relevant to today's time.

Do you think you're well prepared? Do you think you'll win any titles?

Honestly, I hope so, but I don't think I'm that well prepared.

Interview with Robin Bucur

How did you accept our invitation?

I couldn't refuse the invitation of the MUNOB organizing team. After all, I'm a MUNOB veteran myself!

Do you have any expectations from this conference?

I hope that people debate true to the facts, or that they hold their fellow colleagues accountable when they fail to do so. No mercy!

A word for the delegates?

You won't feel it, but this MUNOB will grow you more than you can imagine. You'll best get a feeling for that when looking back at this opportunity retrospectively.

This concludes the first day of our conference. Not only does it give us hope for upcoming fruitful and rewarding debates, but it allows us to get insight into each country's point of view on matters of interest.

Challenge everyone!
